

LokLok

Free

Doodle something funny or thoughtful and send it directly to your favorite person's lock screen so they'll see it as soon as their phone lights up again. Instant connection: check.

Without

Free

It takes 17 thumb taps to take and send a selfie to your significant other with all the camera flipping and switching between apps. Without was created by a long distance couple to streamline the process so they could send sweet messages and current selfies to keep in touch throughout the day. It also updates you on your partner's local time and weather.

Couple

Free

Share messages, photos and draw together. The best feature is the Thumbkiss™, which provides a little vibration when both users touch their thumbs to the screen. No more missing out on goodnight kisses!

TouchRoom

Free

Thumb kisses without the bells and whistles of social media. Invite your love into a room and when you overlap your dots, the phone buzzes. It's a sweet little sensation to remind you they're not totally inaccessible.

Long Distance

Free

People in LDRs need a little support from time to time. This app includes motivational quotes and blogs about maintaining long distance love and also has a countdown feature so you'll always know exactly how long until you two are reunited.

Klikaklu

Free

You can't go on a date from afar, but you can plan one anyway. Design the path and write the clues to send your beloved on a personalized scavenger hunt wherever they may be.

Touchnote

Free (in-app purchases)

Want to send a modern-day love letter? Touchnote lets you create custom postcards using a photo from your phone. They'll print it and mail it directly for just $1.99 to $2.99 each.

Sesame

Free (in-app purchases)

Care packages are a great way to surprise your partner. Sesame offers themed boxes or a build-your-own option to whip up something special.

Avocado

Free

Keep track of everything you two have coming up with joint calendar and list features. You can also hug the phone to your chest or give your screen a smooch and the app will let your lover know you've sent a hug and a kiss.

MIND

Defeating The Distance

Whether it's routine business trips, personal holidays or living in separate cities, being half of a long distance couple isn't easy.

You miss hugs and kisses, date nights and laughing together on the couch. But thankfully there are some apps that can ease the strain. Here are the techie love aids you need to feel close during your LDR.